* The performance comparator is an index or similar factor against which the portfolio manager invites investors to compare the performance of the portfolio. The IA Mixed Investment 20-60% Shares sector is considered appropriate on the basis that the portfolio's equity exposure over time is expected to be similar to that of the average fund in the sector.

 The ongoing charge is the total of the fixed ongoing charge and any discounts applied. More information on the charges and expenses applicable to this portfolio can be found at quilter.com/charges-and-expenses.

 The historical yield reflects distributions paid or declared over the past twelve months as a percentage of the mid-market share price as at the date shown. It does not include any initial charge and investors may be subject to tax on their distributions. Please remember that yield figures are as at the last day of the month and may go down as well as up. The yield may fluctuate significantly during times of extreme market volatility.

Risk factors

Investment risk - there is no guarantee that the fund will achieve its objective. A capital loss of some or all of the amount invested may occur.

Capital erosion risk - the fund takes its charges from the capital of the fund. Investors should be aware that there is potential for capital erosion if insufficient capital growth is achieved by the fund to cover the charges. Capital erosion may have the effect of reducing the level of income generated.

Currency risk - the fund is denominated in British Pounds but may hold assets denominated in, or with exposure to, other currencies. The value of your shares may rise and fall as a result of exchange rate movements.

Derivative risk - the fund may use derivatives for investment purposes and/or for Efficient Portfolio Management (EPM). Using derivatives can involve a higher level of risk. A small movement in the price of an underlying investment may result in a disproportionately large movement in the price of the derivative investment. Derivatives also involve counterparty risk where the institutions acting as counterparty to derivatives may not meet their contractual obligations.

Credit risk - the issuer of a bond or a similar investment within the fund may not pay income or repay capital to the fund when due. Bonds which are rated below investment grade are considered to have a higher risk exposure with respect to meeting their payment obligations.

Interest rate risk - investments in bonds are affected by interest rates and inflation trends which may affect the value of the fund.

Company shares (i.e. equities) risk - the value of company shares may rise and fall due to the performance of individual companies or because of general market and economic conditions.

Emerging markets risk - less developed countries may face more political, economic or structural challenges than developed countries.

Liquidity risk - some investments may become hard to value or sell at a desired time and price. In extreme circumstances this may affect the fund's ability to meet redemption requests upon demand.

Strategy risk - as the fund invests in other collective investment schemes, which themselves invest in assets such as bonds, company shares, cash and currencies, it will be subject to the collective risks of these other funds. This may include emerging markets risk, sub-investment grade bond credit risk and smaller companies risk.

Style bias risk - funds that favour shares of either undervalued companies ("value stocks") or companies with the potential for growth ("growth stocks") may be subject to periods of underperformance, as value and growth stocks typically outperform each other, and markets generally, at different times. This fund is likely to favour value stocks as they typically provide higher dividend payments.

For a more detailed explanation of risks, please refer to the "Risks" section of the prospectus.
